The ECOSYS concept contributes to ecology and economy

All companies must struggle to balance ecological concerns while trying to minimize running costs so as to guarantee economic viability, all the while ensuring that their document management system offers adequate network functionality. The solution to these three issues is KYOCERA Document Solutions' unique ECOSYS concept. We strive to ensure that our products are economic to run by selecting durable materials that do not require frequent replacement when manufacturing main units and replaceable parts. We implement life cycle assessments (LCA) that analyze environmental impact by providing a quantitative understanding of the resources, energy, and waste consumed or produced over the course of the life cycle of a product or service every step of the way from resource extraction, manufacturing, and transport to use, disposal, and recycling. We use this understanding to minimize environmental impact at every stage from product development to disposal. What's more, we also make significant contributions to improving operational efficiency by ensuring that our products integrate seamlessly with network systems.

We make business more productive and secure

As early as 1965, intimus® presented its first shredder: the legendary "electric waste paper bin" intimus® simplex - over one million in use to date. The choice of the brand name intimus® - synonymous with a closely trusted friend - has always been an incentive to provide excellent solutions for perfect information security. And we have always succeeded in this. Over 100 patents and registered property rights underline the wealth of ideas and innovations with which intimus® data shredders have continually been made more convenient and powerful. Today we offer our customers worldwide solutions for information assurance and waste management. The modern working world is no longer imaginable without products from our company, being synonymous with practical, high-performance, reliable solutions.

The user in his or her working environment is always at the centre of our development plans. Today our products therefore do not just shred all traditional data carriers, from note paper to thick EDP lists and complete binders including the metal clip mechanism but also modern storage media such as CDs, DVDs, floppy disks and complete hard drives securely and consistently. And all this for a wide range of applications and security levels, from the home office to the traditional office and high performance systems with capacities of up to 2 tonnes per hour.

Security

Solid state memories such as hard drives containing sensitive information poses no problem to our security shredders when it comes to proper and secure disposal.

Waste Management

With tighter environmental standards dictating how we dispose our business waste, Intimus provides a safe and environmentally sound process to support the efforts of waste management.
